BILL FENNELLY

HEAD COACH / WILLIAM PENN (1979)

31ST SEASON AT IOWA STATE (634-325)

The dean of Big 12 women's basketball coaches, Bill Fennelly has built Iowa State women's basketball into one of the nation's elite programs. He has instant credibility with student-athletes, administrators and fans, establishing a solid foundation for his program based on academics, athletics and character. That foundation, known as the "Iowa State Way," has grown into a model of success that has been matched by very few women's basketball programs nationally.

Entering his 31st season in 2025-26 at Iowa State and 38th as a Division I head coach, Fennelly is one of the game's most respected coaches and the numbers bear witness to the on-court success he has achieved throughout his distinguished career. He is the all-time winningest coach at Iowa State, averaging over 21 wins per season in his 30 years at the helm (634-325). Fennelly's teams have made 31 postseason appearances (26 NCAA, 5 WNIT) in his 37 seasons as a head coach and his 800 career victories rank third among active Division I coaches. He is also the longest tenured active Power 4 basketball coach.

Iowa State Director of Athletics Jamie Pollard and then-University President Dr. Gregory Geoffroy awarded Fennelly a lifetime contract following the 2006-07 campaign, displaying their ultimate confidence in his ability to lead the Cyclones for the long term.

⇨WINNING PROGRAM

Fennelly invigorated the Iowa State women's basketball program from the day he arrived in Ames. He took a program that had won just 237 games in its first 22 years and has guided it to 25 postseason appearances, a pair of NCAA Elite Eight berths, six trips to the NCAA Sweet 16, three Big 12 Tournament titles, a regular-season conference crown and 18, 20-win seasons.

Iowa State is fresh off its 23rd NCAA Tournament berth and its fourth consecutive 20-win season. The Cyclones won just eight games the year before Fennelly's arrival (and 18 combined in the three previous campaigns), but his first season saw the Cyclones win 17 games, and in just his second season he guided Iowa State to the first of its 23 NCAA Tournament berths on his watch, with those NCAA trips producing 23 wins.

Iowa State shocked the women's basketball world when it knocked off top-seeded Connecticut in 1999 to advance to the school's first NCAA Elite Eight. Ten years later, the 2009 Cyclones put their stamp on women's basketball history by overcoming a seven-point deficit with 1:30 left to defeat Michigan State and reach the school's second NCAA Elite Eight. Under Fennelly, ISU has made six NCAA Sweet 16s, including a streak of three-straight from 1999 to 2001 and back-to-back appearances in 2009 and 2010. Iowa State was one of just five schools to reach the NCAA Sweet 16 in both of those seasons. The most recent Sweet 16 appearance in 2022 marked the sixth trip for the Cyclones after recording a program-record 28 victories, the ninth time Fennelly has guided ISU to 25 or more wins in a season.

The Cyclones have been a consistent contender in the Big 12, the nation's best conference, since its inception in Fennelly's second season (1996-97) on the ISU bench. The 1999-2000 ISU squad shared the school's first Big 12 regular-season championship and Iowa State has finished in the top half of the league's final standings in 23 of its 29 seasons in the Big 12 Era.

Iowa State has enjoyed more success than almost any other team in the history of the Phillips 66 Big 12 Women's Basketball Championship, winning 34 tournament contests. The Cyclones cut down the nets in 2023 after knocking off Baylor, No. 14 Oklahoma and No. 15 Texas in three-consecutive days for the tournament title and automatic NCAA Tournament berth. Iowa State also captured Big 12 tournament titles in 2000 and 2001 and has played in six Championship games. The Cyclones' 292 Big 12 regular-season victories rank second all-time.

Fennelly's leadership has produced 11 ISU All-Americans in Stacy Frese, Angie Welle, Anne O'Neil, Lyndsey Medders, Alison Lacey, Kelsey Bolte, Chelsea Poppens, Hallie Christofferson, Bridget Carleton, Ashley Joens and Audi Crooks. His Cyclones have earned all-conference recognition over 50 times, while 16 of his players have been selected in the WNBA Draft. Stephanie Soares was selected fourth overall in the 2023 draft by the Washington Mystics and was traded moments later to the Dallas Wings. Joens followed as the 19th pick, also by Dallas. In 2019, Carleton was drafted Connecticut Sun and later traded to Minnesota where she has been a staple in the Lynx starting lineup each of the past two seasons. Alison Lacey was taken as the 10th pick in the 2010 draft by Seattle and became the first Cyclone to win a WNBA Championship in 2010 when the Storm defeated Atlanta. In 2013, Iowa State was one of just five schools with multiple players selected in the WNBA Draft when Chelsea Poppens (2nd/18th) was picked by the Seattle Storm and Anna Prins (2nd/23rd) went to the Connecticut Sun.

Carleton left Iowa State as one of the program's most decorated players ever. She was honored as an All-American by every outlet and was the first Cyclone to be named Big 12 Player of the Year. As capstone to her legendary Cyclone career, she became the first Cyclone to earn a WBCA position award and be named a WBCA All-American. Carleton won the Cheryl Miller Award, honoring the nation's top small forward, and was included in the 2019 Naismith Starting Five. Carleton recently completed her sixth season with the WNBA's Minnesota Lynx and first as a regular in the starting lineup, reaching the 2024 WNBA Finals and being named the squad's Most Improved Player.

ISU's Ashley Joens became the first three-time winner of the Cheryl Miller Award, earning the honor in 2021, 2022 and 2023. She was named a Second Team All-American by the USBWA and a Third Team All-American by the Associated Press in 2023. She is the only player in program history to make multiple USBWA All-America teams and joins Angie Welle as the only player in ISU history to make multiple AP All-America squads.

NATIONALLY RESPECTED

A three-time finalist for the Naismith Coach of the Year Award (2001, 2002, 2005), Fennelly's peers also voted him as the WBCA District 5 Coach of the Year twice (1999, 2005) and he finished runner-up to Tennessee's Pat Summitt in 1998 Associated Press Women's Coach of the Year balloting.

The turnaround in Ames has been noticed on a national level as Fennelly's squads spent the better part of 12 seasons in The Associated Press Top 25, including 58 weeks in the Top 10.

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE

Fennelly has served four stints as a member of a USA Basketball coaching staff, most recently capturing the gold medal as head coach at the 2011 World University Games in Shenzhen, China.

Previously, Fennelly won gold as an assistant at the 2009 FIBA U19 World Championships in Thailand, the 2008 FIBA Americas U18 Championship in Argentina and the 1994 U.S. Olympic Festival in St. Louis, Mo.

ACADEMICS

Fennelly made academics a top priority for his Cyclone squads, and his student-athletes have flourished in the classroom. Every student-athlete who has completed her eligibility under Fennelly has graduated from Iowa State with a degree. Former Cyclone women's basketball players are scattered all over the globe enjoying careers as doctors, lawyers, broadcasters, teachers, accountants and coaches. Many also have continued their playing careers professionally overseas and in the WNBA.

During Fennelly's tenure, Iowa State has been represented on the academic all-conference list 171 times. Seven Cyclones earned College Sports Communicators (formerly CoSIDA) Academic All-America honors and an ISU player has made the CSC Academic All-District list 19 times during that span.

FAMILY

For the Fennelly family, basketball is a way of life. Fennelly insists that his wife, Deb, is his all-time greatest recruit, and she has been an integral part of ISU's success, making each new Cyclone feel like a part of her own family. The couple's oldest son, Billy, has gone into the family business and joined the Cyclone staff as the Director of Player Development in July 2010 before moving into an assistant's role in 2012. Billy is married to former Cyclone great Lyndsey Medders, who ranks third all-time in assists at ISU. Steven, the youngest son of Bill and Deb, graduated from ISU in 2011 and served as a graduate assistant for the Cyclones (2011-13) before being named an assistant at Cal State Fullerton in 2013. He began working at Idaho as an assistant coach in the summer of 2016 before taking an assistant coach position at UNI from 2017-2022.

➩FAN SUPPORT

Fennelly took a personal approach to growing the Iowa State fan base into one of most envied in all of women's basketball. The Cyclones' yearly attendance average has grown from 733 fans per game the season before Fennelly's arrival to 10,000 fans per contest in 2024-25, ranking seventh nationally. ISU's attendance has ranked among the Top 11 schools nationally in each of the last 26 seasons (excluding the 2020-21 COVID-impacted season), peaking at second in 2013, 2014, 2019 and 2022. The Cyclones enjoyed sellout crowds in the 2004 WNIT against St. Joseph's and in December 2023 for the Cy-Hawk matchup against Iowa.

➩COACHING TREE

Fennelly has mentored a number of former assistant coaches and players who have gone on to successful head coaching careers across the country. Brenda Frese spent four seasons on Fennelly's ISU staff before taking over the reins of her own program. She led Maryland to the 2006 national championship and three Final Fours. After three seasons on Fennelly's coaching staff, Robin Pingeton spent 22 years at the helm for Illinois State and Missouri before being named Wisconsin's next head coach in March 2025. At Illinois State, she guided the Redbirds to a pair of Missouri Valley Conference tournament titles and earned MVC Coach of the Year honors.

Former Fennelly assistant Katie Abrahamson-Henderson was named the head coach at Georgia in the spring of 2022 after guiding UCF to multiple NCAA Tournament appearances. Chris Kielsmeier started his coaching career as a student manager for Fennelly. Now the head coach at Cleveland State, Kielsmeier has posted an all-time NCAA DI record of 386-527 (.732) in his stops at Wayne State and Cleveland State. The latest former Cyclone to join the Division I head coach ranks is Heather Ezell, an All-Big 12 performer as a Cyclone who was promoted to head coach at Wyoming in March of 2022 after seven seasons as a Cowgirls' assistant.

➩BACKGROUND

A native of Davenport, Iowa, Fennelly acquired an extensive background in coaching before being introduced as Iowa State's sixth head coach on July 10, 1995. He went 166-53 (.758) in seven years as head coach at the University of Toledo, and still ranks as the Mid-American Conference's winningest coach by percentage (.758). Fennelly compiled six, 20-win seasons and six postseason tournament berths at Toledo. He coached the Rockets to second-, third- and fifth-place WNIT finishes, three NCAA Tournament appearances, and is a member of Toledo's Varsity "T" Hall of Fame.

Fennelly spent 12 years as an assistant coach, including stops at William Penn University (Oskaloosa, Iowa), Fresno State and Notre Dame. He graduated from William Penn with a bachelor's degree in business administration and economics in 1979.

JODI STEYER

ASSOC. HEAD COACH / COLORADO STATE (1989)

24TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Jodi Steyer is in her 24th season on the Cyclone coaching staff, after rejoining Bill Fennelly's staff in May 2002. She spent six seasons as his assistant at Toledo. She was promoted to Associate Head Coach in June 2012.

Steyer has been an integral part of the Cyclones reaching the postseason 19 times over more than two decades in Ames. That time includes a trio of runs to the second weekend of the NCAA Women's Basketball Championship, making the Elite Eight in 2009 and the Sweet 16 in 2010 and 2022.

Steyer specializes in player development and works with both the frontcourt and backcourt while currently working extensively with triple threat Addy Brown. Under her stewardship, Brown finished with 500 points, 250 rebounds and 190 assists as a sophomore to earn All-Big 12 Second-Team honors. She also works alongside Coach Schaben with the development of two-time All-American Audi Crooks. Steyer played an integral role in helping the young 2023-24 Cyclones to the second round of the 2024 NCAA Tournament.

Emily Ryan finished her career as one of the most prominent Iowa State backcourt success stories, with Steyer playing a crucial role in her development. Ryan dished out a program-record 249 assists in 2021-22 and followed up with 6.4 assists per game in 2022-23, good for ninth among NCAA Division I players. She holds the all-time Iowa State and Big 12 record and ranks seventh in NCAA Division I with 993 assists over 153 career games.

Under Steyer's guidance, Ashley Joens and Bridget Carleton were multiple time All-Americans and own four of the eight Cheryl Miller Awards, given to the nation's top small forward. Joens finished her career as ISU's all-time leading scorer and ninth all-time in NCAA DI history with 3,060 points. Carleton became Iowa State's first Big 12 Player of the Year under Steyer's tutelage and has become a staple in the Minnesota Lynx's starting lineup.

Steyer also helped guide Alison Lacey to All-America honors in 2010. Under Steyer's tutelage, Lacey was the 10th overall pick in the WNBA draft, chosen by the Seattle Storm, and was a unanimous All-Big 12 selection. Lacey was the only player in ISU history to record 1,500 points, 500 rebounds and 500 assists in a career at the time.

Steyer also came on board for Lindsey Wilson's final season at ISU as she made her way into second place on the school's career scoring chart with 1,875 points. She also helped guide Lyndsey Medders to a then-school-record 719 career assists and 1,449 career points.

Iowa State is one of the nation's most prolific three-point shooting teams under Steyer's guidance, leading the Big 12 in 3-pointers in all but two seasons since the inception of the conference. The Cyclones also own nearly every three-point mark in the Big 12 record book.

A native of Burlington, Wis., Steyer was a four-year letterwinner and starter at Colorado State. She finished her career as the Rams' all-time leading scorer (1,598). She earned first-team all-High Country Conference honors three times and academic all-league honors all four years. The former forward earned her bachelor's degree in business administration and marketing from CSU in 1989.

Steyer joined Fennelly at Toledo in 1989, working primarily with the Rocket post players. She coached five all-conference players and two Mid-American Conference players of the year, including current Iowa State assistant Latoja Schaben (1993). Fennelly and Steyer guided Toledo to a 141-45 record in six seasons, including five postseason appearances. Steyer spent an additional year at Toledo after Fennelly left for Iowa State, helping the Rockets to a 25-6 record and an NCAA Championship berth in 1996.

Steyer and her husband, Ed, have two children, with their daughter Jamie serving as ISU women's basketball's radio analyst and son Eric, who played for the men's basketball team.

BILLY FENNELLY

G.M. /ASSISTANT COACH / IOWA STATE (2007)

16TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Billy Fennelly is in his 14th season as an assistant coach and 16th overall with the Cyclones. Nearing 20 years in the women's basketball business, Fennelly has demonstrated knowledge and expertise in what it takes to maintain a successful program at Iowa State and at his other stops as well. Those efforts saw him named among the Top 50 Most Impactful Assistants in women's college basketball by Silver Waves Media.

At Iowa State, Fennelly has served as recruiting coordinator for the Cyclone program, which has seen Iowa State bring in many decorated classes ready to make an immediate impact. Five recruiting classes in the last decade have been ranked in the Top 25, with ISU's 2020 class that included Emily Ryan ranked No. 7 overall. Ashley Joens was top-30 recruit and one of the highest-ranked recruits in program history, helped brought to Ames via Fennelly's efforts. The 2023 class that included Addy Brown, Audi Crooks and Arianna Jackson ranked 13th nationally.

Another area Fennelly has helped Iowa State excel in has been defensive scouting. Long one of the nation's most potent offensive teams, Fennelly has helped the Cyclones begin to excel on defense and win a different variety of contests, helping put together defensive game plans to isolate and shutdown some of the nation's top scorers and prevent teams' best players from being able to do what they do best.

During his time on the coaching staff, Iowa State has continued to excel as a program. Recent seasons have seen those pieces come together with ISU making 11 trips to the NCAA Tournament, including 2021-22's program-record 28 win season that saw the Cyclones return to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 2010. Fennelly also guided the young 2024 Cyclones to a second round appearance in the NCAA Tournament.

Much of Fennelly's time is spent individually coaching student-athletes. Fennelly has personally coached six WNBA draft picks. He coached Bridget Carleton, whose illustrious Iowa State career included consensus All-America honors, Big 12 Player of the Year and the recipient of the 2019 Cheryl Miller Award, honoring the nation's top small forward. Fennelly also coached three-time Cheryl Miller Award winner, All-American and four-time All-Big 12 first-team honoree Ashley Joens, who finished her career as Iowa State's all-time leading scorer with 3,060 points.

Prior to returning to his alma mater, Fennelly got the opportunity to work for a pair of the nation's top coaches in Joe McKeown at Northwestern and Brenda Frese at Maryland. At Northwestern, where he served as Director of Operations for two seasons, Fennelly helped the Wildcats execute a +11 win gain in 2009-10 (the third-best in the nation that season), helping NU to the Round of 16 of the WNIT (the program's first postseason appearance in 13 years). At Maryland, Fennelly served as Assistant Recruiting Coordinator for a Terrapins team that went 33-4 in 2007-08 and reached the Elite 8.

Within the women's basketball community, Fennelly has been recognized and well-respected by his peers for a number of years. Fennelly was called on to present at the 2017 WBCA Convention at the Final Four in Dallas on "Steps to Success," highlighting how he climbed the ranks from a student manager to an assistant coach. He was also selected by Nike in 2014 and 2015 as one of the top up-and-coming assistants in women's basketball to attend the prestigious Villa 7 consortium.

He was selected by top administrators, in 2019, as one of the top up-and-coming assistants in women's basketball to attend the Inaugural "Next Chair" symposium.

Fennelly previously spent three seasons on his father's staff, serving as a team manager for the Cyclones from 2004 to 2007.

College basketball is certainly the family business for the Fennelly Family. Billy is married to Lyndsey (Medders) who is a former All-American point guard at Iowa State and was drafted into the WNBA. The couple has two children, Will and Callie.

LATOJA SCHABEN

ASSISTANT COACH / TOLEDO (1994)

29TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Latoja Schaben, who played for head coach Bill Fennelly at Toledo, is in her 29th season on the Cyclone staff. During her tenure in Ames, Iowa State has compiled an overall record of 599-303 and made 24 postseason appearances.

Just as she helped Fennelly propel Toledo into the national spotlight as an All-American center for the Rockets, she joined her mentor on the sidelines at ISU to build a nationally recognized program. In her first season, the Cyclones recorded their first 25-win season (25-8).

Schaben has been part of many ISU women's basketball milestones, celebrating a trio of Big 12 Championship titles (2000, 2001, 2023), a share of the 2000 regular-season conference crown and two trips to the NCAA Elite Eight. Schaben has coached ISU in four more Sweet Sixteens and has been part of the Iowa State coaching staff during all 23 NCAA Tournament victories in program history.

Schaben's primary assignment is working with the Cyclone post players. Schaben helped coach Audi Crooks to All-America honors in each of her first two seasons. As a sophomore, Crooks led the Big 12 with 23.4 points per game and becoming the third-fastest league player to reach 1,000 career points (49 games). Schaben also helped coach Chelsea Poppens to All-America honors twice in her career. Poppens was the only player to average a double-double in the nation's toughest conference in 2011-12 and went on to become just the 14th player in Big 12 history to record 1,000 career points and rebounds.

Poppens and fellow post player Anna Prins were second-round 2013 WNBA draft picks. Forward Hallie Christofferson followed suit earning All-Big 12 First-Team honors as a junior and senior, en route to back-to-back All-America honors. Forward Stephanie Soares became the program's highest draft pick in 2023, going fourth overall to the Washington Mystics before being traded to the Dallas Wings.

Schaben coached Kristin Scott and Ashley Joens. Scott earned multiple All-Big 12 nods in her career, finishing her senior season with Second-Team All-Big 12 honors. She was also named to Lisa Leslie Award Watch lists, honoring the nation's top post player. Joens, another 2023 WNBA draft pick, was a three-time recipient of the Cheryl Miller Award.

Early on in her career, she tutored Iowa State's then-all-time leading scorer, Angie Welle. She saw Welle earn nine All-America honors in her career. She also played a role in developing Brittany Wilkins, who went on to a professional basketball career both in the WNBA and overseas. Schaben has also coached Nicky Wieben, ISU's most prolific shot blocker.

Off the court, Schaben has made an impact on the entire Iowa State Athletics Department, playing a prominent role on the department's Cultural Humility Committee. Her efforts saw her named to the Women Impacting ISU calendar for 2023.

Prior to arriving in Ames, Schaben joined the professional basketball ranks for three years. She played in Portugal, Italy, Finland and Turkey, averaging double-figures in both scoring and rebounding her entire professional career and leading all of her teams to the finals for the first time in the programs' history.

At Toledo, Schaben was an honorable mention All-American center, lettering three years and earning 1993 Mid-American Conference Player of the Year honors. Schaben graduated from UT in 1994 with a bachelor's degree in communications.

The Mansfield, Ohio, native was inducted into the Toledo Athletics Hall of Fame in 2000 and the Mansfield Senior Hall of Fame in 2003. Schaben, who married Scott in 2007, has a daughter (Jasmine).

EMILY HATFIELD

ASSISTANT COACH/WESTERN CAROLINA (2018)

4TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Emily Hatfield enters her fourth season at Iowa State in 2025-26 and second as an assistant coach. She previously served as the Cyclones' coordinator of video and recruiting operations from 2022-24.

Hatfield assists with the Cyclone back court and has seen three Iowa State guards earn All-Big 12 recognition. ISU teams have finished in the top 25 nationally for 3-point percentage in back-to-back seasons. Hatfield helped land grad transfer Hannah Belanger from the transfer portal ahead of the 2023-24 season, providing experience for a young Cyclones squad. Belanger led Iowa State in made triples in the 2023-24 season while finishing 38.9 percent (74-190) from behind the arc, a mark that ranks ninth among all-time career leaders at ISU.

In her role, Hatfield also oversees the graphic design and creative materials for the program's recruiting operations.

Hatfield arrived in Ames after spending three seasons as Director of Basketball Operations at Tennessee Tech. In her role as Director of Operations at TTU, she was responsible for day-to-day efficiency in organizing team activities, team meals, game film preparation and social media oversight. Hatfield spent the 2018-19 season with TTU as a graduate manager.

Hatfield was a student-athlete at Western Carolina, playing 87 games and making 20 starts in her career for the Catamounts. During her time at WCU, she was also a stellar student, earning the Physical Education program's Alice Benton Award as a senior.

She graduated from Western Carolina in May 2018 with her Bachelor's Degree in Health and Physical Education and received her Master's Degree from Tennessee Tech in Sports Management in December 2020.

ROB JENKINS

ASSISTANT COACH/WISCONSIN (2021)

3RD SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Rob Jenkins enters his third season with the Cyclones in 2024-25 as an assistant coach. Jenkins arrived in Ames in June 2023, spending his first season as Iowa State's player development coordinator.

In his role, Jenkins assists with all aspects of player development for the Cyclones. His efforts have helped Iowa State reach the NCAA Tournament each of the last two seasons.

Jenkins also assists with Iowa State post play, helping the duo of Audi Crooks and Addy Brown rise to the top of the Big 12 Conference. In 2024-25, Crooks and Brown combined for 38.6 of ISU's 76.8 points per game while shooting 55 percent from the floor. One of the most efficient offenses in the conference, Iowa State owned the top mark in points per game, field goal percentage, 2-point field goal percentage and points per scoring attempt in games against Big 12 opponents.

Prior to Iowa State, Jenkins spent two seasons as a graduate assistant at the University of North Carolina. The Chapel Hill native also spent four seasons as a student assistant at the University of Wisconsin prior to his return home to the Tar Heel state.

JOSH CARPER

DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS / IOWA STATE (2007)

18TH SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Josh Carper is in his 18th season on the Iowa State women's basketball staff, after spending five seasons with the Cyclone men's program.

Since his first season in 2008-09, Carper has been part of a staff that has seen the Cyclones amass 354 victories and advance to the NCAA Tournament 14 times, including three trips to the second weekend in 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2021-22.

Carper's role on staff includes scheduling practices, team travel, assisting with camps, budgets, alumni relations and game scheduling.

A native of Sioux City, Iowa, Carper was part of a men's NIT Final Four team and an NCAA Championship squad as a student manager. He also assisted with the women's team in its 2007 NCAA Championship appearance as a manager.

Carper earned his bachelor's degree in marketing from Iowa State in 2007. He is also married to former Iowa State guard Kelsey (Bolte) and the couple have two daughters, Reese and Elliott, and a son, Rocco.

ERIN BROCKA

DIRECTOR OF S&C / UNI (2011)

3RD SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Erin Brocka enters her third season as the Director of Strength and Conditioning for Iowa State women's basketball, joining the Cyclones in June 2023.

She is responsible for creating and implementing training programs for the Cyclones women's basketball team and has seen Iowa State reach the NCAA Tournament in each of her first two seasons with the program.

Brocka is a CSCCa-SCCC certified strength coach, 200-hour yoga teacher training-certified, Baptiste Level I certified and TPI Levels 1 and 2 certified.

A 2011 graduate of Northern Iowa, Brocka was a member of the Panther women's basketball team from 2007-11. A team captain, Brocka earned Academic All-Missouri Valley Conference honors in 2010 and 2011, while she was named to the MVC All-Defensive Team in 2011. Brocka earned her master's degree from UNI in 2012.

She and her husband, Jay Miller, have a son, Max, and a daughter, Stevie.

EMILY RYAN

GRADUATE ASSISTANT / IOWA STATE (2025)

1ST SEASON AT IOWA STATE

Emily Ryan joined the Iowa State women's basketball staff as a graduate assistant ahead of the 2025-26 season following a five-year playing career for the Cyclones.

Ryan ended her career as one of the best point guards in Iowa State history, recording top five all-time marks in assists, steals and blocks. She set the program record for assists by over 200 dimes and ranks seventh all-time in NCAA women's basketball history with 993 assists. Her 1,632 points rank 11th all-time at ISU and she was just the third NCAA women's basketball player to record 1,500 assists, 900 assists and 600 rebounds in a career.

Throughout her five seasons running point for the Cyclones, Ryan was a three-time All-Big 12 honoree, a 2024 Big 12 All-Tournament team member, a three-time Naismith Trophy watch list member, 2025 Wooden Award watch list member and a two-time Nancy Lieberman Award watch list member. For her excellence both on the court and in the classroom, she was voted a College Sports Communicators (CSC) Third Team Academic All-America in 2024-25.

Note on 1973-82 Home Games

The Iowa State women's basketball team played in the P.E. Building (now Forker Building) through the 1975-76 season. Between 1976 and 1982, the Cyclones split time between Forker and Hilton Coliseum. The 1982-83 season was the first time the Cyclones played solely in Hilton Coliseum.

Games played in the P.E. Building are designated with a (P) and games in Hilton Coliseum are designated with an (H). Beginning with the 1982-83 season, games are not marked since all home games from that point forward have been played in Hilton Coliseum.

It was a historic season that would set the table for Bill Fennelly's success at Iowa State. Fennelly took over a program that had never reached the postseason and had just one 20-win season to its credit. It didn't take the Cyclones' new head coach long to change that.

In just his second year in Ames, Fennelly piloted the Cyclones to their first ever NCAA Championship appearance. His Cyclones won a then-school-record nine league games, including a convincing 74-56 win over No. 10 Texas, the school's first victory over a top-10 team. The Cyclones sat at 9-8 when January ended, but rolled off wins in seven of their eight February games, including the win over the Longhorns.

Iowa State added a win over Texas A&M in the first-ever Big 12 Championship before learning its postseason fate. The NCAA committee awarded Iowa State with a berth in the tournament's West Regional and a trip to Charlottesville, Va., to face Utah.

While Iowa State fell to the Utes, 66-57, it was a capper to a magical season. A junior, Jayme Olson had been the floor leader of the Cyclones all season, averaging 17.1 points and 7.3 rebounds per game for the year.

Tara Gunderson led the Big 12 in assists on the season with 4.6 per game. She also averaged 11.1 points per game while running the ISU offense.

Janel Grimm continued her strong career, averaging 13.7 points per game as a junior, ranking 11th in the league.

The 1996-97 Iowa State team set the stage for the unprecedented success that would follow the team throughout the Bill Fennelly Era. The season catapulted Iowa State into the national women's basketball picture, allowing future conference titles and deep postseason runs to be possible.

Building on its success from the previous season's inaugural trip to the NCAA Championship, Iowa State soared to new heights during the 1997-98 campaign. Third-year head coach Bill Fennelly led the Cyclones to a 25-8 record and the school's first-ever NCAA postseason victory.

Iowa State began the season by winning 16 of its first 18 games and went on to take home a then-school-best 25 victories. The Cyclones climbed into the national polls for the first time ever, finishing ranked 24th in the AP Poll and 23rd in the Coaches' Poll. Iowa State also posted a 12-4 record in Big 12 play to finish second in the conference, the team's then-highest-ever placing.

The team featured four standouts, with Stacy Frese leading the team by averaging 15.9 points per game on her way to All-Big 12 First Team and Big 12 Newcomer of the Year honors.

Jayme Olson finished her Iowa State career as the school's all-time leading scorer. She was Second Team All-Big 12 after a senior campaign that saw her average 14.9 points per game. Janel Grimm was also strong as a senior, scoring 12.8 points per game and being named to the All-Big 12 Third Team.

Iowa State also welcomed Megan Taylor to Ames where she began what would become a sensational career in style. Taylor earned Big 12 Freshman of the Year for a campaign that saw her average 13.9 points per game.

After running through the Big 12 during the regular season, the Cyclones made their first trip to the Big 12 Championship semifinals. From there it was back to Ames and the NCAA Championship, with the first two rounds held in Hilton Coliseum. Iowa State earned a No. 4 seed and played Kent State in the first round.

Kent State came to play, but Iowa State would pull off a 79-76 win. It was the first NCAA Championship victory for Iowa State.

The Cyclones advanced to face Rutgers with a trip to the Sweet 16 on the line. A then-record crowd of 9,705 rocked Hilton Coliseum in a game that came down to the last possession. However, another historic first would have to wait, with Rutgers edging away with a 62-61 win. Taylor ended her spectacular freshman season with 28 points and Olson added 14.

The season might have been over, but success was just beginning for Iowa State. So close to advancing to the Sweet 16, the Cyclones would have to wait another year to taste the sweetness of the NCAA Championship's second weekend.

It was a game that would reshape the Iowa State women's basketball team's national standing. The Cyclones had enjoyed increasing success over the previous two seasons, making their first NCAA Championship appearance in 1997 and winning their first postseason game a year later. Now Iowa State found itself in the Sweet 16 for the first time in school history, facing national powerhouse and No. 1 seed UConn.

It had been another season of success for Bill Fennelly and Iowa State. Stacy Frese, Megan Taylor and Monica Huelman had returned to lead the Cyclones, and the team was bolstered by the addition of Big 12 Newcomer of the Year Desirée Francis. Iowa State started the season 13-1 and won all 15 of its games at Hilton Coliseum. For the second consecutive year, ISU went 12-4 in conference play, placing second in the league. The team also made the Big 12 Championship title game for the first time in school history.

Ames hosted the first two rounds of the NCAA Championship for a second-straight season, with the Cyclones disposing of Santa Clara and Oregon in front of their home fans. Frese scored 31 in the 74-61 win over Santa Clara and Angie Welle poured in 21 points and 10 rebounds to best Oregon, 85-70. Those wins set up a trip to the Sweet 16 and a matchup with top-seeded UConn.

The 3-point shot had become a staple of Fennelly's teams, and it was a shot from behind the arc that propelled the Cyclones to the biggest victory in the program's history. With 5:26 to play, Huelman nailed a high-arching shot to put Iowa State ahead, a lead they would not relinquish on its way to a 64-58 victory. The shot was Huelman's only 3-pointer of the game and one of two field goals for the junior, but it was a basket that would go down in Iowa State history.

Iowa State's magical run ended two days later with a loss to Georgia, but the season had been the best in school history. Fennelly was named WBCA District 5 Coach of the Year and was runner-up to Tennessee's Pat Summitt for National Coach of the Year. The Cyclones had matched the then-school-record of 25 victories set a season before and cemented themselves as a player on the national stage.

The 1999-00 season was another jewel in the Iowa State women's basketball team's crown.The Cyclones advanced to the NCAA Championship Sweet 16 for the second-consecutive season and Bill Fennelly became the winningest coach in the program's history in just his fifth campaign as coach. Led by an outstanding group of seniors, Iowa State claimed a share of the Big 12 Conference regular season title and then won the Big 12 Championship by beating fellow regular season co-champion Texas.

Coming off its Elite Eight run a season before, seniors Stacy Frese, Desirée Francis and Monica Huelman paced ISU to then-school records in both total wins (27) and conference wins (13).

Frese, who ended her Iowa State career as the school's all-time leader in 3-pointers, earned Second-Team All-America honors as well as being named an All-Big 12 First-Team selection. Frese averaged 13.8 points and five assists per game on her way to being a Naismith Player of the Year Award finalist.

Three other Cyclones earned all-conference honors, with Angie Welle being named to the All-Big 12 Second Team and Francis and Megan Taylor gaining All-Big 12 Third Team honors. Welle was also an Honorable Mention All-American.

After claiming the conference tournament, Iowa State headed home to play host to the first two rounds of the NCAA Championship, earning a No. 3 seed after its historic season. ISU's postseason run got off to a great start with a 92-63 opening round win over Saint Francis (PA).

A return trip to the Sweet 16 was on the line against Illinois. The Cyclones earned a 79-68 win behind another balanced offensive attack.

Penn State was Iowa State's opponent in the Sweet 16, held in Kansas City, Mo. In a closely matched contest, the Nittany Lions came away with a 66-65 upset victory.

While Iowa State was unable to make back-to-back trips to the Elite Eight, the season was still one of the best in school history.

A third-consecutive Sweet 16 showing was in the cards for Iowa State during the 2000-01 season, as the Cyclones continued their run of postseason success. After never reaching the NCAA Championship before coach Bill Fennelly arrived in 1995, Iowa State was now riding the wave of success.

Despite losing stars Stacy Frese and Desirée Francis to graduation, Iowa State continued its winning ways, matching the 1999-00 squad's then-school record of 27 wins and earning third-place in the Big 12 regular season standings. The Cyclones started the season ranked 10th in the country and climbed as high as fifth in the rankings after an 11-0 start.

The Cyclones won their second-consecutive Big 12 Championship crown, beating three ranked opponents, including No. 7 Oklahoma in the title game. Junior Angie Welle was named Most Outstanding Player of the conference tournament with Megan Taylor and Lindsey Wilson also earning All-Tournament Team honors.

Fennelly was a finalist for Naismith Coach of the Year after turning in his fourth-consecutive season of 25 or more wins.

For the fourth season in a row Iowa State hosted the opening rounds of the postseason tournament, this time as a No. 2 seed, the highest placement ever for the Cyclones in the postseason.

After a 100-61 first round win over Howard, Florida State stood between Iowa State and a third-straight trip to the Sweet 16. Behind another monster game from Welle, ISU cleared that hurdle, gaining an 85-70 win.

Iowa State had made its third-consecutive Sweet 16 appearance, moving on to Denver for the NCAA Championship's second weekend. The Cyclones ran into a tough Vanderbilt team that ended the Cyclone season with an 84-65 win. Welle scored 20, Tracy Gahan added 14 and Wilson and Taylor each had 13 for the Cyclones.

The Cyclones' 79 wins over their last three seasons were the best three-season stretch in school history. The team also won 37 conference games during that time, far and away the best three-year league stretch for the Cyclones.

Postseason appearances have become a staple of the Iowa State women's basketball season, with the Cyclones making their sixth-straight trip to the NCAA Championship during the 2001-02 campaign.

It was the final year for standout Angie Welle, who would leave Ames as the school's career leader in points, rebounds, blocked shots and field goal percentage. Her final season was marked by her selection as a Second-Team All-American after averaging 20.5 points and 11.3 rebounds per game. She was a finalist for the Naismith Player of the Year award and a member of the All-Big 12 First Team.

With Welle patrolling the middle and guards Lindsey Wilson and Tracy Gahan running the offense, Iowa State notched 24 wins, a fifth-consecutive 20-win season under coach Bill Fennelly. Wilson averaged 19.1 points and Gahan added 14.9 points per game to lead a balanced ISU attack. For his work, Fennelly was a finalist for Naismith Coach of the Year honors.

Iowa State started the season 12-0, moving up to fourth in the national polls. The Cyclones went 9-7 in Big 12 play and won two games at the Big 12 Championship, beating Nebraska and No. 10 Colorado before falling to No. 7 Baylor in the semifinals. Once again, a NCAA Championship call was coming.

The Cyclones earned a No. 3 seed for their postseason run, and were given Temple for the opening round, once again at Hilton Coliseum. The team didn't disappoint the Cyclone faithful, beating Temple 72-57. Mary Cofield, who came into the game averaging 6.3 points per game, hit all six of her 3-point attempts and scored 20 points. Welle had 18 points and 15 rebounds while Gahan also notched a double-double with 12 points and 11 boards.

The second round pitted the Cyclones with 11 seed BYU. The game was back-and-forth throughout, with Iowa State holding a two-point lead at the half. The Cougars stayed close, with Iowa State holding a 67-66 lead with 1:41 to play. However, the Cougars finished on a 9-2 run to pull away for a 75-69 upset victory. Welle scored 22 and had 13 rebounds in the final game of her Iowa State career, while Gahan added 20 points. Wilson chipped in 14 points and eight assists for the Cyclones.

2004 WNIT - SEMIFINALS (18-15; 7-9 BIG 12)

After a one-year absence, Iowa State returned to postseason play by advancing to the semifinal round of the WNIT. A challenging season that saw head coach Bill Fennelly forced to use 14 different starting lineups, it was also a transition season with freshman Lyndsey Medders assuming full-time point guard duties midway through the campaign.

Even with the changing lineups, Iowa State was able to post an 18-15 record and showed the improvement late in the season that ensured the team would remain in the postseason picture for years to come.

Iowa State's regular season was highlighted by a 64-63 victory over No. 2 Texas Tech in Hilton Coliseum. Senior Anne O'Neil hit a 15-foot jumper with 0.2 seconds remaining to lift the Cyclones to the upset win. O'Neil was the team's leader offensively, the only Cyclone to average in double figures scoring, netting 12.4 points per game.

While not earning a spot in the NCAA Championship, Iowa State was placed in the Women's National Invitation Tournament for the first time in school history, playing host to all four games it played in the tournament.

The Cyclones opened against Idaho State, jumping out to an early lead and going on to win, 72-59. It was Miami (Ohio) next up for the Cyclones. For the game's first 32 minutes it was a fight, with Iowa State holding a three-point lead with eight minutes to play. Medders hit two free throws to spark the Cyclones to a 15-0 run over the final 8:40 that gave ISU a 71-57 win.

Iowa State then punched its ticket to the WNIT Semifinals with a 66-58 win over St. Josephs. After trailing much of the first half, Iowa State came back to hold a 27-26 lead at the break. It was back-and-forth in the second, with 11 lead changes and six ties. Medders made a layup with 2:20 to play – two of her team-high 19 points – giving ISU a 57-56 lead and putting the Cyclones on top for good.

ISU's run through the WNIT came to a close three days later with a 65-59 loss to UNLV. Medders completed a strong postseason run with 12 points and six assists, while Megan Ronhovde added 10 points.

After a two-year hiatus from the NCAA Championship, Iowa State returned to the postseason tournament in 2004-05, punching its seventh ticket to the Big Dance under head coach Bill Fennelly. Fennelly won his 200th game as Iowa State's leader early in the season, accomplishing that milestone in just 10 seasons. Iowa State also returned to the national rankings, getting back into the Associated Press Top 25 for the first time since the end of the 2001-02 season.

Led by five seniors, Iowa State jumped out to an 18-2 start to the season. Anne O'Neil led the way for ISU, finishing sixth in the Big 12 in scoring and gaining honorable mention All-America status. Katie Robinette was a presence down low, earning Second Team All-Big 12 honors after averaging 14.9 points and 7.4 rebounds per game. Lyndsey Medders improved after her strong freshman season, netting 9.7 points and nearly seven assists per contest.

Fennelly continued to earn national respect for his coaching prowess, being named a finalist for the Naismith Coach of the Year Award. He was named the Russell Athletic/WBCA Coach of the Year winner for piloting ISU to a 23-7 record and 12-4 mark in the Big 12.

The Cyclones finished third in the conference regular season standings and drew Colorado in the opening round of the Big 12 Championship. Medders hit a 3-pointer with 0.2 seconds to play, to best the Buffaloes 64-62. Iowa State then lost a heartbreaker to Texas Tech in the quarterfinals of the tournament, 61-59. O'Neil's last second shot rimmed out, sending the Cyclones home from Kansas City.

The Cyclones were given a No. 7 seed in the NCAA Championship and sent to Fresno, California, for their opening round game against 26-win Utah.

Iowa State jumped out to a 34-26 halftime lead, holding the Utes to 33 percent shooting in the opening period. Utah came out of the break strong, however, making eight of its first 10 shot attempts. Utah then went on an 11-0 run, pulling them into the lead. Utah would hang on and eventually earn an 73-61 win.

While this was the final game for five ISU seniors, the Cyclones would bring back several key components the next season, allowing for more on-court success.

2006 WNIT - SECOND ROUND (18-13; 7-9 BIG 12)

A postseason appearance was in order again for Iowa State in 2005-06, this time a trip to the Women's National Invitation Tournament. It was the second WNIT appearance for Iowa State in the last three seasons and the team's ninth postseason appearance in its last 10 campaigns.

The Cyclones posted an 18-13 record on the year, their 10th winning season in 11 tries under head coach Bill Fennelly. Iowa State was led by junior point guard Lyndsey Medders, a California native who earned All-Big 12 First-Team honors. Medders set an ISU single-season record with 215 assists and led the team by averaging 16.5 points per game. Senior Brittany Wilkins earned All-Big 12 Honorable Mention status after a year that saw her average 16.1 points and 8.9 rebounds a game.

Iowa State also saw a youth movement take place, with freshmen Heather Ezell and Nicky Wieben making significant contributions. Ezell started 30 games, leading Iowa State with 69 3-pointers made, and averaged 10 points per game. Wieben started 26 games, contributing eight points and five rebounds per contest.

ISU finished its non-conference schedule with a 9-2 mark, then went 7-9 during its conference slate. The team beat Texas in the first round of the Big 12 Championship before falling to Oklahoma.

Green Bay was the Cyclones' WNIT opening-round opponent. Wilkins was dominant for the Cyclones, scoring a career-high 30 points and grabbing 16 rebounds to help push ISU to a 79-71 overtime victory.

Iowa State fell behind Marquette in the teams' second-round contest, and trailed by eight midway through the second half. Medders carried the Cyclones back into the game, scoring 14 of their last 18 points and getting assists on two of the other three baskets. After forcing overtime with their comeback, the Cyclones went cold in the extra period, going 0-for-10 from the field, allowing Marquette to advance, 69-63.

Iowa State's standing in the women's college basketball world has changed drastically under coach Bill Fennelly. Fennelly inherited a team in 1995 that had never been to the postseason and in the dozen seasons since, he transformed the program into a perennial contender, a near-lock for the postseason every year.

The first game of the 2006-07 season was a milestone for Fennelly, as he notched his 400th career victory in an 85-62 win over Cal State Fullerton. Later in the season, Fennelly earned his 250th win as ISU coach, far and away the winningest coach in Iowa State history.

On the court, Iowa State was led by senior point guard Lyndsey Medders. A preseason All-American, Medders didn't disappoint, leading the Cyclones in scoring and breaking the single-season assists record she had set the season before. Medders ended her career as ISU's all-time leader in assists with 719.

Sophomore Nicky Wieben earned All-Big 12 Second-Team accolades by scoring 12 points and 5.7 boards a game. Junior college transfer Toccara Ross was a pleasant surprise, averaging 10.7 points and 7.3 rebounds per contest.

It was a streaky season for the Cyclones. ISU started the season 13-1 and ended its regular season on a five-game win streak. That run continued in the Big 12 Championship, as ISU won three games to advance to the championship game. That run included an upset win over No. 13 Texas A&M in the semifinals.

On a roll with wins in eight of its last nine games, Iowa State earned a No. 6 seed in the NCAA Championship and a date with Washington in the first round. The game was played in Minneapolis and Iowa State fans flooded Williams Arena, bringing Hilton Magic with them and witnessing the Cyclones claim a 79-60 win over the Huskies. It was Iowa State's first NCAA Championship win since an opening round victory over Temple in 2002.

Georgia was next for the Cyclones. The Lady Bulldogs raced out to a 20-2 lead to start the game and never let Iowa State back in it. UGA shot 61.3 percent in the first half while ISU shot 32 percent with Georgia advancing to the second weekend with a 76-56 win.

Bill Fennelly has produced many seasons of fine coaching at Iowa State. The 2007-08 effort may have been the best of them all. The Cyclones lost post players Nicky Wieben and Toccara Ross to ACL injuries early in the season, but ISU was able to overcome the losses and post a 21-13 overall record and earn its ninth trip to the NCAA Championship in 12 seasons.

Iowa State was 12-3 when Wieben went down with her injury, leaving the Cyclones extremely thin inside. The team's guards picked up the slack, hitting 267 3-pointers. Sophomore Alison Lacey was first in the Big 12 in 3-point accuracy, hitting 40.7 percent of her shots from downtown. She was also fourth in the conference in assists. Those numbers helped her to All-Big 12 Second-Team honors.

Iowa State reached the semifinals of the Big 12 Championship, beating Colorado in the opening round and coming from behind to nip No. 15 Kansas State in the quarterfinals. Lacey drove the length of the court, made a layup, was fouled and converted the free throw to put ISU up 66-65 with four seconds to play against the Wildcats. Lacey scored six points in the last 11 seconds of the game to bring Iowa State back.

It was back to the NCAA Championship for the Cyclones, this time playing their opening round games at Wells Fargo Arena in Des Moines. Georgia Tech was first on ISU's slate. The Cyclones used a 22-5 second-half run to open up a 13-point advantage. Georgia Tech chipped away at the lead, coming back to within two with four minutes to play.

Holding a one-point lead with a minute to play, Lacey hit a spinning shot in the paint to put ISU up 56-53 with 47 seconds remaining. Tech answered with a field goal to draw back within one. Lacey was fouled and sank both free throws and when the Yellow Jackets' last-second shot was off the mark the Cyclones had held on for a 58-55 victory.

The win allowed Iowa State to move on to a matchup with No. 2 Rutgers. Rutgers shot 54 percent from the field on the game, forcing the Cyclones to play catch-up nearly the entire time. ISU pulled to within five twice in the second half, but could never get over the hump, falling 69-58.

During its Jan. 31 game against Kansas State, Iowa State celebrated the 10-year anniversary of its 1999 Elite Eight run. Players from that legendary team returned to Hilton Coliseum where they were honored. Iowa State coach Bill Fennelly kept his team on the floor during the halftime ceremony, letting them see the players who took ISU on the greatest postseason run in school history. It proved to be foreshadowing for the run the 2008-09 Iowa State team was about to make.

The return of a healthy Nicky Wieben and standout guards Heather Ezell, Alison Lacey and Kelsey Bolte gave Iowa State balance inside and out. Ezell hit 88 3-pointers on the season, averaging a team-high 11.7 points per game.

Iowa State's 24-8 regular-season record earned it a No. 4 seed in the NCAA Championship, traveling to Bowling Green, Kentucky, for the opening rounds. The Cyclones drained 16 3-pointers on their way to an 85-53 win over ETSU in the first-round game, setting up a Second Round date with Ball State. The Cardinals knocked off Tennessee in the First Round but were no match for ISU, as the Cyclones returned to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 2001 with a 71-57 victory.

Iowa State's Sweet 16 game against Michigan State in Berkeley, California, will go down as one of the greatest comebacks in school history. ISU was down seven with 1:10 to play, and its chance of advancing looked slim. Wieben grabbed a rebound off an Amanda Nisleit miss and put it back, allowing Iowa State to put on the full-court press. The team forced a turnover and Ezell banked in a 3-pointer, putting the Cyclones within two with 50 seconds to play.

The Cyclone pressure worked again, forcing Michigan State to throw the ball away. Coming out of a timeout, Lacey hit another 3-pointer to put ISU up 69-68. Michigan State had three chances to win, but all three shots bounced off the rim. It was an unbelievable 69-68 win, sending the Cyclones to the Elite Eight for the second time in school history.

The run came to an end in the Elite Eight against Stanford, with Cardinal star Jayne Appel setting an ISU opponent record with 46 points to take the Cardinal to a 74-53 win and the Final Four.

Entering the 2009-10 campaign, ISU head coach Bill Fennelly knew he had a backcourt that could carry the Cyclones to another exciting postseason run, but with three new faces in the post, the season ahead was full of question marks. Senior point guard Alison Lacey, however, would leave no questions about her legacy at Iowa State.

ISU returned five seniors, but only Lacey and Denae Stuckey saw significant action throughout the season. In addition to his senior leaders, Fennelly was forced to rely on sharpshooter Kelsey Bolte and a stable of freshmen to take the Cyclones to a second-place finish in the Big 12 Conference and their fifth trip to the NCAA Sweet 16 in school history.

Lacey was voted a unanimous All-Big 12 First-Team selection by the league's coaches and persevered through a concussion and a three-week bout with pneumonia that kept her out of four games, including the final two of the regular season and the Big 12 Championship.

On Selection Monday, the Cyclones celebrated as their 23-6 regular-season record earned them a No. 4 seed and the right to play at Hilton Coliseum in the NCAA Championship.

Iowa State fans showed their passion for women's basketball once again, ranking second in attendance among all NCAA first and second round sites. The Cyclones made them proud by putting on a performance those fans would not soon forget.

Lacey returned to the court in the NCAA First Round to face Lehigh and paced ISU to a 79-42 rout that set up a match with a pesky Green Bay team.

Iowa State battled back from an eight-point second half deficit to come away with a hard fought 60-56 victory over the Phoenix to advance to the Sweet 16 for the second-consecutive season. As a reward, the Cyclones moved on to face No. 1 UConn in Dayton, Ohio.

The Huskies hit 42.3 percent of their shots from behind the arc as they defeated Iowa State, 74-36. UConn went on to win its second-consecutive national title.

The loss did not diminish a great season for the Cyclones and a great career by the ISU senior class, which became the third-winningest class in school history by victories (99).

Lacey made her mark on the ISU history books as the only player in school history to record 1,500 points, 500 assists and 500 rebounds on her way to Honorable Mention All-America honors.

For the first time in recent memory, an Iowa State women's basketball team entered a season with a question mark at point guard.

In his 15 years at Iowa State, head coach Bill Fennelly almost always knew which player would be the starter at point guard. The 2010-11 season was different after the graduation of Alison Lacey, a First Team All-Big 12 pick the previous season, and no sure-thing as heir apparent.

The Cyclones did return three other starters, including senior sharpshooter Kelsey Bolte, who would go on to have one of the best seasons in school history. Along with Bolte, sophomores Chelsea Poppens and Anna Prins also returned as starters.

By the start of the season, two newcomers had proven themselves as worthy starters. Freshman Hallie Christofferson stepped right out of Class 1A Iowa ball into the Big 12 and went on to average 9.3 points per game. She would earn Big 12 All-Freshman Team honors.

That left point guard as the only other unsettled position and junior college transfer Lauren Mansfield held the upper-hand in the battle early and never let go, starting all 33 games for the Cyclones and finishing fifth in the Big 12 in assists.

Mansfield's job was made easier by Bolte, who averaged 16.9 points per game en route to becoming a unanimous All-Big 12 First-Team selection and an All-American.

The 2011 Cyclones were Bolte's team and her leadership was proven time and time again. Bolte led the Cyclones in scoring 19 times and was the only player to average double figures.

The Cyclones finished the regular season 22-10 overall and 9-7 in Big 12 play, which was good for a fifth-place finish in the nation's top conference. It marked the fifth-straight 20-win season for the Cyclones.

Iowa State was then selected to its fifth-straight NCAA Tournament, and were shipped East to Durham, N.C., as a No. 7 seed to face Marist. The Red Foxes used a 25-4 first-half run to take a 20-point lead. Iowa State closed the gap to six with just 4:20 remaining following a 3-pointer by Prins, but the Red Foxes answered and went on to win 74-64, ending the Cyclones' season.

Bolte ended her career with 1,639 points, sixth all-time in school history. Her 276 3-pointers ranks third on the Iowa State record list. Along with Bolte and Christofferson, Poppens also was recognized by the Big 12's coaches. The sophomore drew a team-high 36 charges and was named to the league's All-Defensive Team

Fennelly also added another milestone to his already impressive résumé when he picked up his 500th victory as a head coach in a November win over Drake.

The 2011-12 Iowa State women's basketball team will be remembered for its resilience as well as the emergence of Chelsea Poppens as a bona fide superstar in the college game.

Poppens was impressive all season, earning unanimous All-Big 12 First-Team honors, but it took the Cyclones awhile to get things going in league action.

After a 9-2 start in non-conference play, which included an eight-point win over in-state rival Iowa, the Cyclones got off to a sluggish 0-5 start in Big 12 play against a brutal early schedule. Iowa State got its first league win with a nationally-televised blowout of Texas Tech and immediately followed with a road win at Kansas State.

Holding a 2-6 record heading into February, Iowa State regrouped knowing it would play six of nine games in the month at Hilton Coliseum. Hilton Magic struck again as Iowa State went 7-2 during the month, which included wins over Texas and Oklahoma, to get back into postseason contention.

Iowa State would eventually earn its sixth-consecutive postseason bid, capturing a No. 10 seed and chance to play at home in the NCAA Tournament. The Cyclones would face Green Bay in the opening round. The Cyclones were the first Big 12 team and just the third team from a power conference to make the NCAA Championship after starting league play with five-straight losses.

Hosting NCAA Championship play for the seventh time in school history, Iowa State fell to the Phoenix in the first round despite having five players score in double figures.

The individual success of Poppens became something that everyone was talking about. Opposing coaches heaped on praise, head coach Bill Fennelly said that fans could relate with the hard-working forward from Aplington, Iowa. Poppens had been setting herself up for this success by taking charges and diving for loose balls that nobody thought she could get to. The result was national recognition. All-Big 12 and then All-American.

She was the only Big 12 player to average a double-double with 14.2 points and 10.6 rebounds per game. Poppens was even talked about on Comedy Central's The Colbert Report, as host Stephen Colbert declared "There's no stoppens Poppens."

If one thing rang true during the 2012-13 season, it's to never underestimate the Cyclones. After being picked sixth in the Big 12 Preseason Poll, the Cyclones would go on to finish second behind defending national champion Baylor.

The 2011-12 buzz was about the emergence of Chelsea Poppens, and although Poppens put together another standout campaign, a lot of buzz was about the emergence of Hallie Christofferson.

Poppens and Christofferson were both named Associated Press Honorable Mention All-Americans. Christofferson was also an Honorable Mention All-American from the WBCA and a unanimous selection to the All-Big 12 First Team.

Christofferson established herself as one of the nation's most consistent players. She finished second in the Big 12 in scoring (15.6), seventh in field goal percentage (51.6) and second in free throw percentage (86.2). She was also 10th in rebounding (6.7) and posted 28 double-figure games, including 11 games with 20 or more points.

Poppens, on the other hand, became just the second player in school history and the 14th in Big 12 history to record 1,000 points and 1,000 rebounds. She finished her career with a school-record 458 offensive rebounds. The senior was a major reason why the Cyclones had as many or more rebounds than 27 of 33 opponents and ranked 14th nationally in rebounding margin (+7.9).

The impressive individual accomplishments were indicative of the team's overall success as Iowa State started the season with an impressive 9-1 record. The Cyclones closed out the regular season with a 12-6 conference record.

The Cyclones would once again make a strong run in the Big 12 Tournament with a berth in the championship final, falling to No. 1 Baylor.

The Cyclones captured their seventh-straight NCAA Championship appearance as a No. 5 seed, traveling to Spokane, Washington to face host Gonzaga in the first round. Despite being put in a true road-game situation as the higher seed, the Cyclones topped the Bulldogs 72-60 to advance to face the No. 14 Georgia. Iowa State's season would come to an end with a slim five-point loss to the Bulldogs.

The 2013-14 Iowa State team started the season with more question marks than guarantees. A lack of size and depth was certain to give the Cyclones some trouble after losing two WNBA Draft selections in Chelsea Poppens and Anna Prins, but how much was the real question.

Among the guarantees was the return of star forward Hallie Christofferson. Individually, the senior didn't disappoint, averaging 18.4 points and earning a second-straight Honorable Mention All-America nod. Christofferson would also earn a spot on virtually every midseason watch list en route to being named a Senior CLASS Award finalist. She also earned a spot on the All-Big 12 First Team for the second-straight year.

The season was full of more surprises as Cyclone Nation saw glimpses of freshmen standouts Seanna Johnson and Jadda Buckley. The duo started nearly every game and claimed a combined eight Big 12 Freshmen of the Week awards. Johnson and Buckley also earned spots on the All-Big 12 Freshman Team as a result.

Junior Nikki Moody earned a spot on the All-Big 12 Second Team as ISU's second-leading scorer with 12.5 points per game. Moody continued her climb up the career assist leaderboard with 534, which ranked third all-time at the season's end.

As a team, the 2013-14 Cyclones turned a few heads in the beginning of the season starting with a school-record 14-0 start to the year. Iowa State's 14-0 start included wins over No. 25 Oklahoma, Auburn and Iowa at home and was good enough to catapult it to a national ranking of No. 11.

With an eighth-straight NCAA Tournament bid at stake, the Cyclones would pull off a late-season rally downing Texas, No. 15 Oklahoma State and Kansas on the road. The 9-9 conference record would be enough to give ISU a spot in the Big Dance. ISU would earn a No. 7 seed in the NCAA Tournament and a date with 10th-seeded Florida State.

The Cyclones' season would come to an end in Hilton Coliseum in the First Round of the NCAA Tournament. The same shooting woes that plagued ISU during the season returned and the Cyclones fell 55-44 to the Seminoles.

One thing is true about the 2014-15 Iowa State women's basketball team, it could never be counted out. The Cyclones would shock the college basketball world by taking down top-10 opponents three times. Iowa State would close out the Big 12 season with a 9-9 conference record and in a three-way tie for third place.

After the graduation of All-American Hallie Christofferson, the Cyclones looked to the senior class of Nikki Moody, Brynn Williamson and an emerging Fallon Ellis to guide them. Moody would go on to break the Iowa State school record for career assists (745) and net a career-high 14.5 points per game to lead the Cyclones. Her efforts would also land her on a short list for the Nancy Lieberman Award as the nation's top point guard.

Williamson would continue to do what she did best by knocking down 3-pointers. The senior would finish her career fifth in school history with 259 triples and second with 761 career attempts. One of the season's biggest storylines was the emergence of Ellis. Ellis, who only averaged 2.5 points per game entering the season, would be a lifeline for Iowa State. She doubled her output to 5.2 points per contest and earned a spot in the starting lineup before season's end.

Sophomore Seanna Johnson continued to break records, recording a sophomore record 285 rebounds, while leading the Big 12 with 9.2 rebounds per game. Johnson became the fastest Cyclone to reach 500 career rebounds. Johnson's play would earn her All-Big 12 Honorable Mention honors.

Iowa State closed out the non-conference slate with a 9-2 record. The Cyclones would make their mark in Big 12 play after topping undefeated and No. 3-ranked Texas in Ames, 59-57. The Cyclones did it again two weeks later in Austin, taking down the No. 8 Longhorns 58-57, the highest-ranked road win in school history and completing the season sweep of UT. On Senior Day against No. 3 Baylor, the Cyclones got the Lady Bears 76-71 in Ames to wrap up a 9-9 Big 12 slate.

An 18-12 overall record would be enough to send the Cyclones to the Big Dance for the ninth-straight season and ISU traveled to Lexington, Kentucky as the No. 10 seed to take on Dayton. The Cyclones would drop their First Round game to the seventh-seeded Flyers, who would go on to make a run to the Elite Eight.

The 2016-17 Iowa State team was determined to flip the script from the year prior after failing to make the NCAA Tournament for the first time in nine years. The Cyclones would return four of five starters, led by a 2015-16 All-Big 12 First-Team choice in Seanna Johnson along with redshirt junior Jadda Buckley and emerging star Bridget Carleton.

Johnson put together another stellar campaign, netting 15.8 points per game and 8.2 boards. Her efforts earned her Honorable Mention All-Big 12 honors. Johnson became the third Cyclone in school history to go over 1,000 career rebounds and the second Cyclone to net 1,500 career points and grab 1,000 boards.

Carleton returned to the court with more confidence and became one of the Cyclones' go-to scorers. She finished the season averaging 15.0 points. It wasn't just Carleton's scoring ability that made her a threat on the court, but her abilities to stuff the stat sheet. The sophomore averaged 5.7 rebounds, 1.8 assists, 1.2 steals and 1.0 blocks per game en route to becoming a unanimous selection to the All-Big 12 First Team.

Buckley would be the other double-digit scorer for ISU with 13.9 points per game. She also dished a team-high 5.0 assists per game, earning Honorable Mention All-Big 12 status.

The Cyclones closed the non-conference slate with a 9-2 record, with one of its losses coming in overtime against No. 6 Mississippi State. Iowa State would begin Big 12 play with one of its toughest starts, and after falling to 13-11 and 4-9 in league play, the Cyclones couldn't afford another loss. Head coach Bill Fennelly challenged his team and it stepped up and rattled off five-straight wins to finish 9-9 in league play, including an upset of No. 6 Texas in Austin.

The Cyclones' late-season heroics were enough to earn a spot in the NCAA Championship, where they faced No. 7 seed Syracuse. The Orange overpowered ISU, 85-65, but despite the loss, the Cyclones were remembered for their late-season run that propelled them from destined for the WNIT to back in the NCAA Championship.

Entering the 2018-19 season, head coach Bill Fennelly knew his team would have a chance to have a special season. Iowa State returned the majority of its roster from 2017-18 and added guard Alexa Middleton, a transfer from Tennessee, giving ISU a huge boost at point guard.

Led by senior Bridget Carleton, the Cyclones boasted one of the most challenging schedules in recent memory, beginning with their first appearance in the Preseason WNIT. Iowa State took the crown, defeating a ranked Miami (FL) squad in the final, 75-52.

Iowa State entered the national polls for the first time since the 2013-14 season. The Cyclones would climb to a season-high No. 13 to end the regular season in the AP poll, their best since January 2014.

The Cyclones would roll through the Big 12 schedule with a 13-5 record, getting swept only by No. 1 and eventual national champion Baylor. Their 13-5 finish earned them second-place outright in league action for the first time since 2012-13.

At the Big 12 Tournament, Iowa State would advance to the finals after topping Kansas and Texas. ISU fell in the title game to Baylor, 69-47.

ISU's 25-win season to date earned it not only a trip to the Big Dance, but hosting rights at Hilton Coliseum. ISU earned a No. 3 seed and played host to New Mexico State in the first round and soared past the Aggies, 97-61.

All-told, the 2018-19 team finished the season with three wins over ranked opponents and the highest RPI in program history, sitting at No. 11.

The Cyclones faced No. 11 seed Missouri State in the second round, but struggled offensively to get going and eventually fell, 69-60.

Entering the 2018-19 season, Carleton had already left a major mark on the ISU record book, but the Chatham, Ontario native would shatter nearly every single-season record and finish her career just seven points shy of ISU's then-all-time mark with 2,142 career points.

Her impact was evident throughout women's college basketball as well, as she was named a Second Team All-American by nearly every major outlet, was honored as the Cheryl Miller Award winner, honoring the nation's top small forward and a member of the WBCA's All-America team. She also became the first Cyclone to earn Big 12 Player of the Year honors.

The 2020-21 season was one of uncertainty after the start of the Covid-19 pandemic spelled the end of the 2019-20 campaign right as the postseason was about to begin. With many rules and guardrails in place to ensure the season could happen, perseverance and discipline of the highest order was required for everyone. At the end of the season, the Cyclones were one of just a handful of teams to make it through the entire season with no shutdowns or missed games due to Covid-19.

Iowa State entered the national polls to start the season at No. 15 in the AP poll The Cyclones rolled through the Big 12 schedule with a 12-6 record, tying for third-most wins in Big 12 action in school history. The Cyclones even secured one of their biggest wins, an ever elusive 75-71 victory in Waco against No. 9 Baylor, behind a 27-point, 12-rebound game by Cyclone star Ashley Joens.

Iowa State's 12 Big 12 wins earned it the No. 4 seed in the Big 12 Tournament and a tough matchup against No. 5 seed Texas. Iowa State's battle with the Longhorns would go to overtime, where the Cyclones fell 84-82, despite a momentous effort. ISU's season would continue on, as the squad earned the program's 19th NCAA Tournament appearance as a No. 7 seed, facing No. 10 seed Michigan State in San Antonio, Texas.

The Cyclones held off a feisty Michigan State team in the First Round behind a monster 33-point, 9-rebound game from Joens and a double-double effort from senior Madison Wise, earning ISU a 79-75 victory and a date with No. 2 seed Texas A&M.

Iowa State was the aggressor against the Aggies, holding a lead for the length of regulation, before the Aggies knotted the game with five seconnds remaining on the clock. The Cyclones would be unable to overcome the Aggies in overtime, falling 84-82 after a buzzer beater gave Texas A&M the win.

Entering the 2020-21 season, Joens had already established herself as one of the nation's best. Her school record of 24.2 points per game garnered her numerous accolades, including Second Team All-America honors by Sports Illustrated. Perhaps the best honor came when Joens was named the Cheryl Miller Award winner, honoring the nation's top small forward and the second Cyclone in three seasons to take home the trophy.

The 2021-22 Cyclones had so many historical accomplishments, both as a team and via individual accolades, that it can be easy to overlook some of the incredible things the team accomplished en route to returning to the second weekend of the NCAA Women's Basketball Championship for the first time since 2010.

Iowa State's 28 wins were the most in school history, a haul that included a program-record 14 conference victories, landing the Cyclones second in the regular season standings. ISU's 28th victory, a 67-44 demolition of Georgia in the Second Round of the NCAA Tournament in Ames, propelled the Cyclones to their sixth Sweet 16 in program history and first in 12 years.

As a team, Iowa State hit more 3-pointers than ever before, setting a new program and Big 12 single-season record with 357. The barrage was led by Ashley Joens (91) and Lexi Donarski (88), the third- and fourth-most 3-pointers made by a Cyclone in a season in school history. Emily Ryan added 52, which included her shooting 54.1 percent from 3-point range in Big 12 play.

ISU's leading trio reeled in the accolades following the season. Joens once again claimed the Cheryl Miller Award given to the nation's top small forward and picked up Second Team All-America honors from the Associated Press and USBWA. At Texas on Feb. 17, Joens became Iowa State's all-time leading scorer.

Donarski became the first Cyclone to be named Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year. Her impact without the ball was not felt through traditional stats like blocks and steals, but the challenge she presented to her primary defensive responsibility. In Big 12 play, Donarski held opponents six points and seven field goal percentage points below their season averages heading into the contests.

Ryan emerged as one of the nation's top floor generals, earning All-Big 12 First-Team honors and setting Iowa State's single-season assists record with 249 dimes, which included a single-game record 17 at TCU on Feb. 12.

The Iowa State women's basketball team had another history-making season in 2022-23. For the first time in 22 years, the Cyclones claimed the Phillips 66 Big 12 Women's Basketball Championship title, which in turn gave ISU its 21st NCAA Women's Basketball Championship bid in program history.

The highlight of the season came over those three days in March when the Cyclones took down Baylor, No. 14 Oklahoma and No. 15 Texas in consecutive days in Kansas City to cut down the nets at Municipal Auditorium. The Cyclones were led by Ashley Joens, who finished her career with many additions to her already extensive trophy and individual honors collection. For the third-straight season, Joens was named the winner of the Cheryl Miller Award, given to the nation's top small forward. In addition, Joens was named the Big 12 Player of the Year and was the unanimous selection as the Big 12 Women's Basketball Championship's Most Outstanding Player. Over the three days in Kansas City, Joens averaged 26.7 points and 11.0 rebounds per game. Joens was named a Second Team All-American by the USBWA, a Third Team All-American by the Associated Press, and was selected to the WBCA All-America team for the second-straight season. She is the only player in program hisotry to make multiple USBWA All-America teams and joins Angie Welle as the only player in ISU history to make multiple AP All-America sqauds. Joens finished her career with a bevy of career school records, with her 3,060 career points ranking first in Iowa State history, second in Big 12 history and ninth in NCAA Division I Women's Basketball history.

Teammate Emily Ryan was named to the All-Big 12 Second Team. Ryan ranked second in the Big 12 and ninth in the country with 6.4 assists per game, while she was the Big 12's iron woman, playing a league-best 36.2 minutes per game.

Head coach Bill Fennelly claimed his 750th career win during the season, becoming the 27th coach in NCAA women's basketball history to reach the mark.

The Cyclones welcomed the nation's 13th-ranked recruiting class ahead of the 2023-24 season. Returning just a quarter of minutes played from the 2023 Big 12 Championship squad, Iowa State exceeded expectations and returned to the conference tournament title game and made its fifth-straight NCAA Tournament appearance.

Iowa State used a 6-0 start to conference play, its best start since 2000, to boost its Big 12 standing early. A 4-0 finish, including a win at No. 15 Kansas State, earned the Cyclones the No. 4 seed and a double-bye into the quarterfinal round of the Big 12 Championships.

Audi Crooks stormed onto the national stage during the first round of the NCAA Tournament, leading Iowa State back from a 20-point deficit to take down 10-seed Maryland. Crooks scored 40 points on 18-of-20 field goals. She became only the second NCAA basketball player to score 40 or more points while shooting at least 90 percent from the floor, joining Bill Walton's (UCLA) performance in the 1973 title game.

As a team, Iowa State recorded the third-most assists in program history with 620 dimes on the season as Emily Ryan broke the program record for career assists (782).

ISU's leading trio of Crooks, Ryan and Addy Brown were dominant in their own ways. Crooks became the first Cyclone freshman to earn All-America and First-Team All-Conference honors. While Ryan set additional assists records, Brown's well-rounded play saw her become the only Iowa State player to record 400 points, 250 rebounds and 150 assists in a single season.

Ryan continued in her steady role as one of the nation's top floor generals, earning Big 12 All-Tournament Team honors and setting the conference tournament record for career assists with 64 dimes. She also broke the ISU NCAA Championships career assists record (53) and claimed the single-game high with 14 dimes against Maryland.

Iowa State returned its "big three" of Audi Crooks, Addy Brown and Emily Ryan to the 2024-25 roster while also picking up a key addition of Sydney Harris from the transfer portal. The Cyclones reached their 23rd NCAA Tournament and sixth straight, making them one of just 15 programs in the country to appear in the last six NCAA Championships.

Following a perfect non-conference slate in Hilton Coliseum, the highlight of the season came on senior day. In the final regular season game, Iowa State hosted No. 14 Kansas State for another highly-anticipated matchup between the two storied programs. Ryan's final game in Hilton Coliseum was arguably one of her best ever as she finished with 17 points, 10 assists and seven rebounds to will the Cyclones to the 85-63 win. Crooks led the way with 36 points on 14-of-18 shooting from the floor.

ISU followed up with a 96-88 win over Arizona State in the second round of the Big 12 Championship, led by Addy Brown's career-high and Iowa State Big 12 Tournament record 41 points. Brown went 5-of-9 from beyond the arc and 10-of-11 at the free throw line while adding six rebounds, four assists and two blocks in the victory.

The two key wins sealed Iowa State's selection to the NCAA Championship field. The Cyclones were selected as a No. 11 seed and to play a First Four game with fellow 11-seed Princeton. No strangers to big performances in March, Crooks and Brown combined for 50 of Iowa State's 68 points and led Iowa State into NCAA First Round action. The win over the Tigers sealed head coach Bill Fennelly's 800th career win, making him one of three active NCAA Division I women's basketball coaches to reach the milestone victory. Fennelly is also the 17th all-time winningest DI women's basketball coach.

Crooks, Brown and Ryan were recognized with all-conference honors while Crooks was also named a Third Team All-American by the Associated Press and US Basketball Writers Association.
